Malte Goy - Director & DoP

Malte's passion for capturing emotions brought him to painting at an early age and he was honored a national young talent in his college years. Growing up in the skateboarding and street art culture influenced his work as an artist. From the backcountry of Iceland to the gleaming neon facades of asian megacities Malte is always on the hunt for the distinctive light and feel of those places. In his work he combines those photographic aesthetics with intimate human moments. That is why on his productions he emphasizes the importance of handpicked locations and a memorable casting while supporting those with a subtle but effective postproduction. Malte works worldwide and his work has already taken him to places such as China, Jordan or the USA. He is also available as a still photographer.
